Con i nuovi aggiornamenti è stato aggiunto il supporto per le fotocamere Pentax K-1 e Sony Cyber-shot DSC-RX10 III

Adobe ha rilasciato Lightroom CC 2015.5.1/6.5.1 e Camera Raw 9.5.1, aggiungendo il supporto per le fotocamere Pentax K-1 (/videographia/news/pentax-presenta-la-k-1-e-due-nuovi-obiettivi-1127/) e Sony Cyber-shot DSC-RX10 III (/videographia/news/presentata-la-sony-cybershot-rx10-iii-1152/) e risolvendo alcuni bug.

Bug corretti in Camera Raw 9.5.1:

- EXIF lens name not visible for some camera models
- Camera Raw would not launch under Mac OSX 10.7 and 10.8
- Errors when using Camera Raw to tone HDR images from Photoshop. This occurred when converting 32-bit files to 16 or 8-bit files

Bug corretti in Lightroom CC 2015.5.1/6.5.1:

- Droplets not working as export actions
- Issues with incorrect folder permissions. ↔ Please see instructions to help correct user permissions issues
- EXIF lens name not visible for some camera models. ↔ Please see instructions to reparse the Lens metadata after installing the update
- Focus lost in the keyword panel when navigating to the next image
- Error when merging to HDR or Panorama from a collapsed stack
- Removed dependencies on QuickTime for some video codecs on Windows. Please see <http://helpx.adobe.com/.../..allation-impact.html> (<https://helpx.adobe.com/x-productkb/multi/quicktime-uninstallation-impact.html>) for more information
